The Hanging Affair at Lane Station.

We have received two anonymous letters, and one accompanied with a responsible signature, concerning the recent hanging of Burke, at Lane Station. The anonymous writers represent that Burke was a harmless and half insane old man, who had been cheated by certain parties at Lane out of all his mensey—that there was absolutely no evidence against him but the testimony of a hired detective—and that since the lynching affair took place, his murderers have vindicated their conduct wholly on the ground that he was a secessionist, not an incendiary. The other writer alleges that nobody cared a farthing for his secession sentiments, but that he was The Hanging Affair at Lane Station We have received two anonymous latter his secession sentiments, but that he was hung solely on account of monstrous crimes, murder, arean, conspiring to kill, etc. The anonymous writers inform us that if they should make known their names in connection with their revelations their own liver

[Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]
Washington, June 23.
In Cabinet council it has been finally deter mined to recommend to Congress at its forth-coming session in July, the making of a di-rect appeal to the people loyal to the Govern-ment for the purpose of raising means to pro-cente the war against the rebels. A loan acording to this plan is proposed by calling for a subscription in every town and county throughout the loyal States, under the anapi-ces of Postmaters and Federal officers, the amounts to range from $30 to $1,000, and small subscriptions to be encouraged and have the preference. For these subscriptions U.S. Treasury cor-

Interesting Items from Missouri.

The steamer J. C. Swon arrived here from the Misseuri river, to day, bringing Colonel Frank P. Blair and the wounded men of the battle of Boonville. The wounded are eight in number. One died last night, and other will probably die. The remainder, it is Col. Blair's account of the fight and foot race at Boonville agrees, substantially, with that already published. The rebels lost from and released on parole.

The fire was opened by the Union men and emertly returned by the rebels for about twenty minutes. The rebel artillery was slienced in ten minutes. After the firing ccased, the footrace began and was kept up for miles. The rebels said to have been exceedingly ludicrous. The subsequent reception of the faderal roops in that town was very enthusiast Gen. Lyon remained at Boonvill preparing to start toward Arkansas.

Capt. Fletcher's company returned to-night from a trip down the Iron Mountain railroad. They captured several secession flags and as latter took the oath of allegiance. Loyalist are increasing since the Bo Five companies of Col. McNeil's regimen

St. Louis, June 23.—The steamer J. C. swon arrived at the Arsenal from Boonville a: 2 P. Col Blair arrived on the Swon, and will proceed to Blair arrived on the Swon, and will proceed to Washington to morrow via. Clacimant. He says that the number of State troops killed at Boonville is not less than 40, and thinks it was much more. About 5,000 United States troops are concentrated at Boonville, embracing the Iowa iroops under Col. Bates, the Kansas force under Col. Spence, Gen. Lyou's command of U. S. Regulars, and the Missourl volunteers. kansa force under command of U. S. Regalars, and the Massouri volunteers.

From the Southwest we learn that Sigel's regiment was within 3 days march of Springield, Col. Salomon being one day behind. Col. Brown's regiment left Rolla this morning with the same destination, and Col. McNell's regiment left here this morning for Rolla.

When latest heard from, Gov. Jackson had been joined at Warsaw by the State troops that attacked Capt. Jook's command at Cole Camp; and from thence he pushed rapidly on Southward.

A letter to the Democrat from Southwest Miscouri says Gen. Esteries have been planted as every available point between our lines and Manusaus. Gen. Beauregard recommends guerilla warfare in eastern Virginia. It seems the rebels have a line of communication open to Luisville, and quantities of provisions are said to have been received from that source.

Report of the movement of rebels inwacks our inces is confirmed. It is thought the rebel commanders are obliged to do this in consequence of murmars of dissatisfaction among their men.

Prom Nortrean Monroe.

FORTHESS MONROE, June 22.—A steamer which started for Norfolk with a fing of truce, was not permitted to proceed beyond Sewell's Point. It was, however, met by a rebel rebel steamer which took the passengers to their destination. to their destination.

It is known that the first shot from Sawyer's rifled gun, at the Kip Kapa, struck the robel magazine at Sewell's Point, scattering the robels and nearly exploding the magazine. The rebel batteries have now been moved from their former position. Several cannon at Fortress Monroe are being rifled.

All are baken from Congress. Gauman has been a Judge of the Snprome Court, and was holding the Attorney-Generalably when appointed. Three years so, he spend four months in the United States, mosily in New York. His residence is Tolnes, in the Valley of Mexico. He is very popular in his Country, and thought to be of great ability. He is between forty and fifty years of age.

Castanos is of an old and distinguished family of Teple, near the Pacific coast. He was educated in Europe, is very accomplished, and has often been in the United States, in the course of mercastile brusiness. He has heretofore not mixed much in politics.

Zaragoza is from the Texan frontier. He won a General's position by fighting for the constitutional party. He is active and energette. He is the only member of the late Cabinet.

Buiz is from the City of Puebla, a distinguished lawyer and politicism, often a member of Congress, and one of the best speakers in Mexico. His character is high for integrity and ability.

Mr. Corwin was received with great distinc-

Walving all question as to the applicabilis of this haw or that authorizing the deposit Illinois stocks at par, to banks already in elstence, the Commissioners fleal authorized, far as they have authority, to apply its principle to the present circulation. This principle of the present circulation. This principle of the present circulation. This principle determines the characteristic control illinois stocks, who will enter into central demption. While they have no authority determine the character of stocks when the are deposited, they have the power to asset tain the value of their while they remain ascentity. In doing this, while strict regard the public interests should be observed, the may in the exercise of a reasonable discretic discriminate in favor of Northern and especitly Hilmois stocks. In the hope, therefore, the banks whose circulation is principally secure by Northern stocks will withdraw what Sout en stocks they have with the Treasurer, as substitute in their place Northern stocks, at make arrangements for central redemption and that those whose circulation is wholly a cured by Northern stocks will make such a demptions at an early day, we have conclud to wait until the 18th day of next month by make arrangements for central redemption; and that those whose circulation is wholly secured by Northern stocks will make such redemptions at an early day, we have concluded to wait until the 15th day of next month before making further calls. After that time, calls will be made upon such banks as shall not accept these terms; and in fixing the values of stocks, in reference to further calls, the actual market value will be adopted in cases where the market value is below par.

Our bank laws heretofore have aimed principally to provide for the utilimate redemption of our circulation; but the necessity which commerce creates for its immediate consertibility has been overlooked. For instance, a bank nominally located at some remote and underlands place, may have securities which might be good for the utilimate redemption of its issue, but bawing in fact no place of business, the expenses and delays incident to protest, would prevent its immediate convertibility, and corsequently is not worth what it calls ior, and exchange upon its issue has been adopted. This is not an imaginary case, but it father is the instory of a large majority of our present banks. To remedy this evil and to put an end, to some extent, to the mischlef and ruin and outrages consequent upon it, the present policy of requiring banks to be a reality—to have a place of doing business and compel them to redeem at commercial points on reasonable terms, has been adopted. A convertible circulation we need. For want of it the people of the State are now suffering the loss of several millions of doilars, and aimost all business is paralyzed, and it will be our policy, so far as the law has given us power, to encourage it.

By section 31 of the law of 1851, the Bank Commissioners are authorised to examinate outh all officers and agents and others

By section 31 of the law of 1851, the Bank Commissioners are authorised to examine under oath all officers and agents and others connected with the banks touching the sfairs and brainess of such corporation, and by the sect of February 22, 1851, the commissioners are provided with 'the means to execute that power. Information touching some of the persons and their responsibilities who are the etckholders in these banks has been already obtained, and at a proper time such examination will be commenced, unless reports to the Auditor which are required to be made on the first of next month shall render further information on this point unnecessary.

The quarterly examination of the banks and securities in the Auditor and Treasurer's office as contemplated by section 10, article 3, of the law of February 14, 1851, as will be seen by the foregoing, has been commenced in the Treasurer's office and continued to the Auditor's and completed. We take pleasure, however in being able to state that the vault in the Treasurer's office and continued to the Auditor's and completed. We take pleasure, however in being able to state that the vault in the Treasurer's office and continued to the Auditor's and completed. We take pleasure, however in being able to state that the vault in the Treasurer's office and continued to the Auditor's and completed, and that the bank securities and treasures of the State are properly and securely kept.

THE BLOCKADE.

A British Prize Vessel Conder Judgo Dunlap, of the United States Circuit Court at Washington, has condemned the British schooner Tropic Wind, seized while attempting to run the blockade in Chesapeake Bay. The case was regarded with great interest, as establishing a precedent, and the british himister employed the higest legal talent in contesting it. The decision of the British Minister employed the higest legal talent in contesting it. The decision of the Court was given as follows:

The blockade being one of the rights incident to a state of war, and the President havleg in substance asserted civil was to exist, ing in substance asserted civil was to exist,

Tours trait,

Tours trait,

Tours conditions of the part of the purchase of the properties of the propert

dent to a state of war, and the President having in substance asserted civil war to exist, the Court is of opinion that the blockade was lawfully proclaimed by the President. As to the next question, when did the blockade be come effective? The Court says notice of actual or constructive will, and there does not sppear in the cause any evidence to show that the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade, so as to allow British the law of the blockade was brought home to them.

It also appeared in evidence that Master Layton heard in Blehmond of the blockade as effective before he began to load his cargo, and was informed it commenced on the 2d of May. All the evidence concurs in showing that the cargo was laded on board the Tropic Wind the 18th and 14th of May. No principle of prize law seems better settled than that such lading relates to the blockade, and formation that the british sally as would have allowed the Tropic Wind to load her cargo and come out of port after having received information that the blockade had been established.

The details of the awards for the new gunboats have not been made public. The bidders, as has already been stated, are numerous. There are bidders from the North as far as Maine for the bulls, and from all portions of the couptry for the engines; those for machinery are not so numerous a those for the boats. Among the property of the hulls will be those from Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and the other Eastern States. The bids for hulls will average seventy five thousand dollars each, and for engines about forty thousand dollars cach. The Novelty Iron Works, of New York, bid for three engines.
